YALE IS HARD HIT BY INCREASES IN COSTS

SALARY LISTS GOING UP

President Hadley Issues Report for 1919-20 Covering Activities of University.

Special Despatch to THE NEW YORK HERALD, NEW HAVEN, Nov. 13.—That Yale University has been hard hit by the high cost of living is graphically shown in the report for 1919-20, issued to-day by President Arthur Twining Hadley. "There can be little doubt," he asserts, "that the actual cost of running the university will have increased from $1,600,000 in 1914-15 to considerably more than $2,600,000 in 1920-21."

The salary list alone, President Hadley points out, has risen from $763,000 in 1914-15, to a total of over $1,100,000 last year. For the present year, he believes, $1,250,000 will be necessary to pay salaries to the teaching and administrative forces of the university in keeping with the prevailing costs of living.

President Hadley emphasizes the fact that while all students have been re-warded, when they have specifically requested it, of the increase of $6 in the cost of tuition, the great majority of students and their parents "feel that a difference in the cost of instruction, which is part of the general increase in the price level of the country, should in fairness be met by the students themselves in all cases where they can afford it."

Relative to the faculty salaries which have been increased substantially since the war, President Hadley says: "One feature in the salary system adopted at Yale deserves special notice, because it is different from that which prevails at most other institutions. The highest salary of an instructor is as great as the lowest normal salary of an assistant professor, the highest salary of an assistant professor is as great as the lowest normal salary of a professor. We believe that advancement in salary should be based on two distinct grounds—salary being primarily a compensation for service rendered and title a recognition of distinction as a teacher, scholar or administrator."

EMIGRATION OF JEWS TO PALESTINE GROWING

Rapid Exodus from Central and Eastern Europe.

VIENNA, Nov. 13.—Emigration of Jews to Palestine is increasing rapidly in central and eastern Europe, and the new Palestine immigration regulations would allow of a controlled immigration of about 17,000 Zionists of the pioneer class during the coming year, said S. Landmann, secretary of the Zionist organization, in an interview.

Mr. Landmann said the selection of the immigrants is being made by the Zionist organization, which has established Palestine offices in the important Jewish centers. Preference is given to young people, strong in body and determined in spirit, who have had actual experience in agriculture or other manual work and who know Hebrew.

Several thousands of such pioneers—known by the Hebrew name of cholim—have already left and others are waiting in the large centers until proper arrangements for their transport can be made and until new openings for employment in Palestine are reported. One of the features of the pioneer movement is that it includes a fair proportion of girls of well to do families, and who have decided to devote their lives to the new Palestine. They act as land girls and take care of the domestic arrangements in the Jewish colonies.

U.S. MADE OF STUDENT MIGRATION

Jersey Leads in Percentage of Pupils Sent to Other States for Education.

OHIO HAS GOOD RECORD

Few Leave South for North, According to Report of Church Board.

A study of student migration shows that New Jersey leads all other States in the percentage of its college students sent to other States to be educated; New Hampshire leads all others in the percentage of students received from other States for education, and New York ranks first in the total number of undergraduates sent outside the State for college instruction.

This information is furnished by Dr. Robert L. Kelly, executive secretary of the Council of Church Boards of Education, who has completed a survey for that organization of student movements throughout the United States. The survey does not include the larger State universities, but simply the institutions ranked as accredited colleges by the Association of American Universities, the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, the Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools of the Southern States and the University of California.

The survey revealed, Dr. Kelly said, that Ohio and Pennsylvania are in the lead with the greatest number of college students leaving their home States. North Carolina, while there are twenty States which have no accredited colleges, has the highest percentage of students leaving their home States. The highest percentage of students leaving their home States is in California, where 12.24 per cent of the students of the institutions of higher learning leave their home States.

"Conversely, it is interesting to note," said Dr. Kelly, "that California comes the nearest of any State to taking care of her own students. Only 6.6 per cent of California students attend college outside of the State."

Among other facts revealed by the survey are: The District of Columbia has the highest average enrollment per college, with 2,229 students.

Massachusetts leads in the total number of students drawn from outside the State, the number being 4,165.

Ohio leads in the total number of students in and outside the State.

There is a striking lack of migration, the survey showed, of students of Southern States to States of the North. Out of a total of 1,000 students of Southern States, only 100 are reported to have migrated to other States.
